"Thank you for all the help during the past 6 years of my life. It has really helped me progress as a student. I feel that I am an overall better student because of your help at JEC. Again, thank you." - A.S

JEC NW

JEC NW prepares students for the rigor of an academic career at the college or university of their choice.

Our aim is to develop educational capacity. To that end, our centers offer classes on a variety of subjects, exam instruction, and individualized enrichment sessions. JEC NW serves high-performing students looking for that extra edge and students who have not yet reached their academic potential. It is our belief that every student has the right to learn, to increase his or her mastery of a given subject, and to realize latent talents and abilities.

JEC NW Mission Statement

To support the development of growth-minded learners who are empowered to raise their expectations of themselves to master new academic challenges.

JEC NW Philosophy

JECNW's educational philosophy is based on the belief that all students can achieve confidence in their studies given appropriate guidance, persistent effort, and the desire to succeed.

JEC NW Programs

JECNW provides specialized tutoring in three main areas: elementary education, middle and high school education, and college admissions. JECNW's versatile and accomplished teaching staff helps students improve their proficiency in the following major subjects: English, math, science, history, and standardized tests including the SAT and ACT.

JEC NW Tutoring Type

We understand that every student learns in a unique way, so we offer personalized instruction in a variety of tutoring styles, including small group workshops (7-8 students), small group personal tutoring (3-4 students), and private tutoring (1 student).

A new student is given a free comprehensive diagnostic test to evaluate his or her current academic status. With the test results in hand, a JECNW academic advisor engages the parents and student in an intensive conversation to form an appropriate personalized study plan including student goals and road map to achieve the goals.

JEC NW 2016 SUMMER PROGRAM

College Preparation Program

► SAT Elite

Through thoughtful practice and concept review, any student can improve his or her scores on the SAT. Designed for high school students at all ability levels, the SAT Elite course provides ample opportunities for practice as well as guidance to help students pinpoint their conceptual weaknesses and make strides toward overcoming them. Students will be responsible for completing and reviewing regular model tests and working with instructors to take charge of their own progress goals through thorough coursework completion and attentive, engaged in-class study behaviors.

► SAT 1400 Club

As of 2016, the SAT exam challenges students to work through multi-step processes in both the Math and the Evidence-Based Critical Reading and Writing sections. It demands a strong grasp of the kinds of problem solving and higher-order thinking abilities necessary on a college campus and beyond. JECNW's 1400 Club course is intended for students already excelling in rigorous coursework at school who need to polish up their test scores through targeted drill-practice and review. All students entering this class will need to meet minimum test requirements, and students will be expected to complete regular model tests, participate actively in class, and finish all assigned coursework.

► SAT English Prep

Even more so than they do in high school, college students rely on reading and writing to be successful. In-depth textbook assignments and complex composition skills are key to mastering college course loads. High school is the time to start developing these crucial abilities, which is why tests like the SAT require students to demonstrate them. Our SAT English Prep class uses SAT materials alongside college-level reading and writing tasks to help students create a firm foundation both for their future tests and for their greater academic goals. Students in this course will complete monthly model tests to evaluate their progress.

► SAT Subject Test Prep

The SAT Subject Tests are content-area assessments for college bound students, meant to demonstrate mastery of skills not tested on other standardized college admissions tests like the SAT and ACT. JEC NW offers individualized review for most major subjects to help students feel confident with the test format and knowledgeable about the key concepts necessary to improve their performance in time for test day. Contact our center to inquire about help with particular subjects.

► PSAT Workshop

This six-week workshop offered only in the fall provides students targeted practice and skills-review just in time for the October PSAT, the exam which doubles as the qualifying assessment for the National Merit Scholarships program for test-takers in their junior year. Covering both the Math and the Critical Reading and Writing sections, it is intended for students who want to get an extra edge before the exam. Students will take six weekly model tests.

► College Admission Essay Workshop

A lot more goes into the college admission essay than just cranking out 500 words. The essay is an opportunity to showcase student thinking, character, and writing ability. In this personalized workshop, our instructors can help with everything from generating ideas to editing for style and content. Through our student-centered approach, students can take pride in crafting a strong personal statement and learn how to improve their writing more generally using a structured process for drafting and revision.

▶ AP/IB/Honor Club Tutoring

For students enrolled in high-level classes, JEC NW provides both summer preview to help students ease into material before the school year and review courses to help students prepare for end-of-year exams. By highlighting important topics and skills, both programs can help students get more out of their school courses. Contact our center to learn more about options for private and small group AP/IB/Honors sessions.

Middle / High School Program

▶ Readi@JECNW English Level I – V

The Readi@JEC NW English curriculum combines the most important elements of language arts to enrich students' understanding of vital reading and writing skills including comprehension, analysis, discussion, grammar, vocabulary, and composition. Students will encounter a variety of high-quality fiction and non-fiction works and will be encouraged to think critically about challenging themes, complex text structures, and how language and other writing techniques shape understanding. This course is open to 6th-11th grade students in both small group and private formats. All students will need to complete an assessment test to be placed into the correct course level.

▶ Math Personal Tutoring

Our Math Personal Tutoring program is a student-paced supplementary math curriculum. Students work in small group classes, each pursuing his or her personal math goals with the support and instruction of one of our highly competent math tutors. After assessing student math proficiencies, our academic counselors guide students either toward a math curriculum that aligns with and supports their school learning or toward a remedial or advanced curriculum based on the students' individual needs. This course is available in small group, semi-private, and private formats upon request.

Elementary School Program

▶ Junior Readi@JECNW English Level I – III

Our Junior Readi@JEC NW class is a great way for younger students to get their feet wet with language arts. In small group or private sessions, students discover diverse, thought-provoking fiction and non-fiction texts that gradually increase in difficulty, providing lots of room for growth in comprehension skills. Regular lessons in sentence level grammar, word study, and writing help students become more familiar with the patterns and structures of English that they will encounter both

▶ Junior Math Personal Tutoring

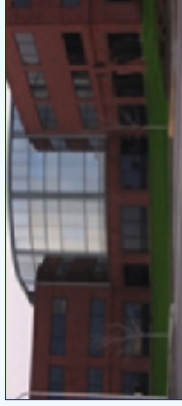

Open to students from 2nd to 5th grade, this course is designed to help students start off their experience with math on the right foot by helping them establish strong fundamental skills that will support them throughout their education. Students work at their own pace with one of our math instructors to build up their understanding before moving on to more complex topics as they are ready. Small group, semi-private, and
